

BIO SUMMIT 2011

Prague, 15th November

CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES OF THE PARLIAMENT OF THE CZECH REPUBLIC

Biosummit 2011 is a specialist conference which provides organic farmers and producers of organic products with a platform for open discussion. The aim of this year's conference is to link key figures from the ranks of politicians, traders, farming associations and interest groups and to identify the role that the field of organic farming and food production should assume within the new EU Common Agricultural Policy. Biosummit 2011 will take place in the prestigious surroundings of the Chamber of Deputies of the Parliament of the Czech Republic.

The conference is particularly intended for distributors and producers of organic foods, representatives of farming interest organisations and public bodies.

Do the Czech Republic and EU need Organic Farming and Organic Foods?

What is the expert opinion on the quality of organic foods?

The most important points from the international specialist congress "Food Quality & Health", held in Prague in May.

Do consumers need organic foods?

Organic foods as a successful alternative in the view of top European businesspeople.

Food scandals as a challenge to organic producers?

Consumer protection and the potential of organic foods in relation to food scandals.

What role will Organic Farming play in the new EU Common Agricultural Policy?

Organic farming and food production as a model for quality and sustainability.

Registration from 15. 5. 2011, limited conference capacity.

CONCURRENT EVENT

The 3rd Specialist Conference on Organic Farming, whose main theme is "New discoveries in organic farming research and their implementation in Central and Eastern Europe".

14. - 15. 11. 2011

Venue: Czech University of Life Sciences – Prague – Suchbát

The conference follows on from the conferences on organic farming which were held in Lednice na Moravě in the years 2008, 2009 and 2010. Delegates from the fields of business, food production and farming dealt with current problems, especially in the field of ethical and sustainable education.

The focus of this year's conference on the region of Central and Eastern Europe should bring progress in the region's international cooperation and also development in cooperation with EU member states and other European countries.
